

The book “Hollin Hills: Community of Vision. A Semicentennial History 1949-1999” has been reprinted and is available for purchase. The original 1000 copy printing of this 185-page, hard-cover, heavily illustrated book sold out quickly, so don’t hesitate to purchase your copies now. (Hollin Hillers might want to consider a copy for each of their children, plus a copy to go with the house when/if you must sell).

The book is a unique and extensive exploration of the place of this award-winning community in mid-20th century residential development and architecture, of the architecture of its 4457 houses, interior design and furnishings, the unusual physical layout of the community, the community’s extensive woods and green spaces, and the community activities that have evolved as part of Hollin Hills’ atypical story.

The price is $45 for current members of the Civic Association of Hollin Hills, $50 for all others. Cash or checks (made out to “CAHH”) can be accepted. Books can be picked up in the community, or will be mailed out for an additional $6.95.

To order your books complete and send your check with the following information, to Scott Wilson, 2115 Popkins Lane, Alexandria, VA 22307.
